Well for months I have been seeing a comparison of President Obama and former President Nixon.

President Nixon attempted to cover up the breakin of the Headquarters for the Democrats at Watergate. As a result of the couverup President Nixon resigned as President.

President Obama, and his administration covered up the real reason and the Terrorists in the Benghazi attack of our consulate.

There really is no comparison when you realize that no one was killed in Watergate.

Now, just this last week news reporters are making that same comparison, especially in light of the IRS scandal and in the scrutizing the Associated Press staff emails, not to mention Attorney General Holder's efusal to prosecute the Black Panthers in that voting scandal.

Our President attempts to calm this inquisition by announcing that the one Director at IRS was forced to resign. What he did not tell you is that the person's term was up in June anyway.

The failure of this administration to provide the E-mails Congress has requested is scandalous.
