

This is Phil Arnott for community comment on K INS radio.

Well, we have all read and watched the stories of the illegal immigrant children and some adults coming across the Mexican border. Then we fly them all over the USA, but my question is why don't we just fly them back to Mexico. The reason is that the policy of this administration is to allow this immigration over the last four years. This will undermine the structure of this great country of ours.

Pres. Obama's goal, in my opinion, is to reduce the influence of our country in the world and to reduce our overall structure he sees it as leveling the playing field.

Removing our troops from Iraq was one step, and who does that help, not the citizens of Iraq but the brotherhood or ISIS. Our president has never thought of our nation as an exceptional country. Well, he is wrong. History shows us that we have helped countries throughout the world. We should still be in Iraq helping those people and preventing the radicals from taking over refineries and other strategic locations. Already the terrorists have taken over the country's second-largest city. So what is our president going to do? We should be providing military support that Iraq desires through drone strikes, supply of weapons, reconnaissance, targeting assistance and improved and expanded training for the Iraqi troops. Then of course one of the basic problems in that country is that a religious war continues to thrive. There is fear that the Kurds, Sunnis and Shiites will never reach an agreement because of their difference in philosophy. However, our Pres. can no longer turn a blind eye toward this country no matter how bad things get

This exceptional nation as paid for Michelle Obama's trip to Ireland which cost us taxpayers over $7 million. Then do top it off they go to away for a family vacation. The president returns on Air Force One but Michelle Obama and their children come home on a different plane at a cost of $175,000 per hour.

Well, finally the American people have had enough. The polls show Pres. Obama has low favorable ratings. I guess I should be thankful to him for giving me a lot of material to comment on.

I leave you with a point to ponder: do you think our country will survive two more years of this administration or are we destined to go down the road of Saul Alinsky?

This is Phil Arnott for community comment.