

Hello, this is Tom Cookman with a Community Comment.

It is no surprise the nuclear deal with Iran has both sides of the aisle pointing fingers at each other. Do those in favor of this realize that Iran is our enemy? I think it is absurd to negotiate with a country who not only denies that the Holocaust ever happened, but also let's it be known that they want Israel to be wiped off the face of the Earth. Iran is a hot spot for terrorists that want every American dead. They don't care if you are a Democrat, a Republican, an Independent, a pacifist, a liberal, a member of the Ku Klux Klan, a Christian or an atheist. If you're an American, these radicals would like nothing better than to cut off your American head. For some reason our President wants to negotiate with them and give Iran nearly twelve billion of our tax dollars. We know Iran has never complied with anything, but Obama is arrogant enough to think they will comply this time around. There are so many things wrong with this deal, but the number one reason this deal should be terminated is that Israel doesn't want it. Israel has been our number one ally in the Middle East and they are displeased with what Obama is attempting to get passed. Israel has had our back in every situation, and yet Obama is willing to throw them under the bus in favor of a country that has been our enemy for the last forty plus years. Seriously! Doesn't this sound crazy? This deal will be devastating to the stability in the Middle East. Iran will proceed with developing a nuclear bomb, and based on events from last week, Russia will help them. Israel will do everything in their power to prevent this from happening. They will bomb every facility in Iran that is developing nuclear warheads. It won't matter what Washington DC does to counter this. We are turning our back on Israel by allowing Iran to become a nuclear threat, and they must protect their citizens. As soon as Israel does this, Russia and China will step in to help Iran. This deal will potentially start World War III. Our hands will be tied, because we supported Iran at the outset of this nuclear proposal. It is very frustrating to see this unfolding. I can't for the life of me understand what our President is doing. It appears that he is in favor of the destruction of Israel as well. I've heard people say how proud they are of President Obama after listening to his speech about the Iran deal. Have we evolved so far as a country that people are proud of a President who is destroying our long-term relationship with Israel in favor of befriending an outspoken enemy to both the USA and Israel? Please listen up, if Israel says it is a bad deal, it is a bad deal. We should support the only true friend we have in the Middle East and keep Iran from having a nuclear program. Our President is making the biggest mistake any President has ever made, and we are letting it happen right under our noses - some of the more ignorant Americans are even applauding it. We are going to give an enemy twelve billion of our tax dollars and let them create a nuclear program. This money is coming out of my pocket and your pocket, and it will be given to a country who openly and publicly condones the beheading of Americans. I don't know about you, but this just makes me sick.

This has been Tom Cookman with a Community Comment