

Sign on...

I don't know about you, but I am getting so sick and tired of our presidential candidates, who are running for the most prestigious office in the world, acting like school kids with their "I didn't"- "Did too", picking at each other. How about letting us know about their positions on matters of world peace, or national security, besides Trump's plan to build a fence along the Texas border with Mexico? I don't care who you like, how about them acting like grown-ups for a change?//I was talking to a friend the other day, and she told me about a mutual acquaintance who had fallen for the "Grandma-this is your Grandson" scam, for about $47,000.00-Actually, she got clipped twice in the same day! I think she needs to change banks, as they should have caught that one! This is just a warning-there are people out there who will steal you blind in a second! If you don't know where your grandkids are, find out when you get a call like that!//I was working the night shift one night, and about 2 or 3:00 in the morning, ~~one night~~, a lady and two men came to the checkstand with a cartfull of groceries. When I finished checking them out, the lady handed me a credit card and it had my then-mother-in-law's name on it! I said "that's my mother-in-law's name, and she didn't react. Turned out her first name was the same as my mother-in-law's. As soon as I got home that morning, I called her, and she had a drawerful of credit cards. I told her to cut them up, and it turned out the mailman had put her card in the wrong box, and the resident's grandson got hold of it and used it-maxed it out in two days! So, be on the lookout and watch everything carefully!.*// As I was listening to the news on KINS this past Monday morning, the announcer talked about two new bills going through the procedure. One was a mandatory three month birth time off for folks with a new baby. The other was a law forbidding most stores from selling tobacco products. Now. I don't smoke, and I don't like smoking or tobacco use, but that is unfair and ridiculous. Then came the one about the tax structure for marijuana sales-sounds complicated and that it would cost more to enforce it than it was worth! They are making laws for everything! What's next? You can't use peanut butter and jam at the same time?//I had my last comment typed and taped before I learned that Jimmy Smith had passed. Fred Nelson's comment on the next Friday pretty much covered what I would have said- so-"So Long, Jimmy-It was good to know ya!" Jimmy and I met ^{AT} Freshwater Park, when the pool was being discussed, and we got to be good friends after that, having lunch or breakfast at Adels every so often.* It's too bad that the good ones have to go so soon, but that's life, I guess!

STEW OFF!!!